Feb 1914

536

February 11th, 1914

Miss E. M. Fitch,

Dean of College of Women,

Oberlin College, Ohio.

Dear Miss Fitch:

I am afraid that the questions that you are submitting to various colleges with regard to possible standardisation of social conduct, particularly among young women, involve an experience that I do not possess in order to give any answer that might be valuable to you. I shall be glad, however, if you will be good enough to let me have your report on the questions when you have received your answers.

I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.